I Wud Knot Dye in Wintur.

BE THE ORTHOR OF "THOOTS ON A PADID BOKA."

I wud knott dye in wintur,
When whiskie punchis do—
When pooty gals air skating
Oar fealds of ice & sno—
When sassidge meet is phrying
& Hickri knutts is thick,
Owe! who kud think ov dighing,
Or even getting sick?
I wud knott dye in spring time,
& miss the turnup greens,
& tho pooty song ov the leetle frawgs,
& the ski larks arly screem;
When burds begin their wobbiling
& tatur gin to sprout—
When turkies go a gobberling
I wud knott then peg out.
I wud knott dye in summer,
& leave the garden sass—
The roasted lam & butter milk—
The kool place in the grass:
I wud knott dye in summer
When evry thing's so hott,
& leave the whiskie Jew-lips—
Owe know! ide rather knott.
I wud knott dye in ortum,
With peeches fit for eating,
When wavy korn is getting wripe
& candidates are tresting;
Phor these and other wreasons,
Ide knott di in the phall:
& sense ive thort it over,
I wud knott di a tall.

One of the most painful disclosures made in the search for historical materials of our Revolutionary war, are the proofs brought to light of the treason of Gen. Lee, who was third in rank in the revolutionary army under Gen. Washington. He enjoyed through the war a high reputation as a soldier, and though an Englishman, with some faults of temper and character, he was trusted and honored as a true friend of the cause through the whole war, and at his death in Philadelphia, in 1782, his obsequies were such as were paid only to patriots of the most distinguished name and merit.

By recent investigations in the archives of the British government pertaining to our revolutionary period, a traitorous correspondence was found between Gen. Lee and Gen. Burgoyne and other emissaries of King George, in which Lee proposes to betray the cause he was supporting with apparent zeal to its foes. Among the documents brought to light is one endorsed "Mr. Lee's Plan, Dec. 29, 1779," in which he gives the outlines of a scheme by which the rebellious provinces could be reduced, and, in his own words, "the last spark of war extinguished." Infamy, as black as that which surrounds the memory of Arnold, will hereafter attach to the name of Lee.

Down on the "Eastern Shore" of Virginia there is an editor, who is also his own compositor and pressman, and makes occasional voyages along the coast to Norfolk, as Captain of the schooner Polly, who preaches on Sunday, teaches school on week days, and still finds time to take care of a wife and sixteen children.

AN ACCOMMODATING EDITOR.—Parson Brownlow, of the Tennessee Whig, tries to make it easy for his subscribers these hard times. He advertises to take, in payment for subscriptions to his paper, "East Tennessee bills worth twenty cents on a dollar, Shanghai chickens, hoop skirts, boot jacks, broom corn, baby jumpers, patent medicines, sucking pigs, frozen cabbage, old clothes, Colt's revolvers, second hand tooth brushes, ginger cakes, parched corn, circus tickets, or any other article in a retail store."

The Minnesota papers are having a little amusement over the fact that General Shields found his pocket book, containing $2500, in his overcoat pocket, after having given it up as stolen, while going up the Mississippi.

The Richmond (Texas) Reporter of the 13th ult., contains an advertisement of "four hundred likely African negroes, lately landed on the coast of Texas," which are to be sold "on reasonable terms."

The Emperor of Austria has sent an autograph letter to the Pope, assuring him of his eagerness to serve him, and begging his Holiness to dispose of him and his troops. He adds that they shall retire, or limit their occupation to such places as the Pope may point out, in order to defend the integrity of the territory of the Church.

The whole number of letters delivered by the British mails, within the United Kingdom in the year 1858, was 523,000,000. The aggregate number carried in the year 1839, twenty years ago, was only 76,000,000, showing an increase of 770 per cent. The net profits of the British post-office establishment last year, was $6,500,000, about equal to the gross receipts of our Post-Office Department.

HARRIS & MARCHAND, ASSAYERS.

No. 105 Sacramento street, SAN FRANCISCO. No. 73 J street, SACRAMENTO. No. 27 E street, MARYSVILLE.

H. & M. have established, in addition to their well-known offices in the interior, a Branch Office at No. 105 Sacramento Street, San Francisco, where they will carry on the business of Assaying in a manner to give satisfaction to all who may favor them with their orders.

GOLD, SILVER AND ORES of every description, promptly and faithfully assayed and returns made within six hours.

Having been established for a period of upwards of three years, during which they have transacted all the business entrusted to them in a manner to please their depositors, they feel at liberty to refer to the correctness and liberality which have characterized all their dealings as some guarantee for what they will do in the future.

They would especially dwell upon the fact that THEY DO THEIR OWN WORK, and manufacture all utensils used by them, for which they received a premium at the late State Fair. In every department none but the best of talent is employed.

As vouchers for the correctness of their Assays, they refer with permission to the following Bankers, who, for nearly three years, have shipped bars assayed by them, to the Eastern States and Europe:
